RealTime for MAS 90/200

DeltaOne Software introduces RealTime, an interface module for barcode data collection with MAS 90/200. RealTime uses Barcode Master to update MAS 90/200, by replacing the older batch data collection technology with wireless data collection terminals.

At this time, users of MAS 90/200 have two options for barcode data collection; MAS 90/200's Barcode Master Module, based on batch terminal data collection or the alternative of spending many thousands of dollars on a complex Warehouse Management System. As you may be aware, typical starting costs for a WMS system is $35K+ for the software package only, hardware and consulting not included.

RealTime is based on wireless scanning technology, instead of batch data collection, so errors are "trapped" the moment they are made. Each transaction is instantly validated against your live MAS 90/200 database. If an invalid item is scanned, the operator is notified instantly. This is in contrast to the standard Barcode Master Module, which is based around batch scanning terminals. With batch data collection, a scanning error would not be detected until the data is uploaded from the scanner. Thus, the operator is not informed of the error until the data is uploaded, which may be hours later; this is often too late to correct the error.

DeltaOne Software's RealTime for MAS 90/200 provides the functionality you need without the cost or complexity of advanced WMS systems. RealTime supports the following transactions:

- Sales Order Processing
- Shipping
- Receiving
- Manufacturing Orders
- Physical Inventory
- Warehouse Transfers
- Additional Custom Transactions via Visual Integrator

RealTime, in conjunction with your existing MAS 90/200 system, will provide everything you need to run an efficient warehouse. RealTime is easy to use and cost effective; complete systems start at under $8000.00
